

awaits, april

wind's teeth
on still water—

mud cracks
its brittle
code.

buds
hold their first
unspoken vowels.

sky's edge
dissolves—
silt drinks
the light.

the pond
a breath
held too long.

stones
whisper
of green hunger—
horizon.
a throat
choked
on almost-green.